Project Schedule: November 2006 - August 2007

Description:

4-story Academic & Career Development Center operated by Corning Community College, Corning NY.

Project Highlights:

- Adaptive reuse and restoration of the former Lagonegro School. A landmark school originally built in the early 20th century, Krog restored exterior elements and renovated the interior to accommodate Corning Community College's adult education programs.
- A new entrance structure providing elevator and handicap access was added, joining the old gymnasium annex to the main building complex.
- After being completely restored and renovated under the specific guidance of Chemung County, the building was donated to Corning Community College.
